

Katherine Sirvio is an artist and designer, originally from Pennsylvania, who has lived and worked in the Detroit area for more than four decades. After moving to the upper peninsula in 2019, her work changed directions focusing on the intricacies of nature. She has exhibited across the United States in small galleries to national exhibitions, among them The Saville & Schwab Galleries (Maryland), The Old Courthouse Gallery (Chicago), The Valade Gallery (Detroit), The Design Gallery (Warren), and most recently in a one man show at The Huron Mountain Club Gallery (Marquette) and the d'Art Center (Norfolk, VA). She has also exhibited in many community galleries such as the Detroit Artist Market, Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, Lake Effect Gallery, and the Erickson Center for the Arts. Katherine has a permanent mural at the General Motors Technical Center and has participated in the Billboard Collective including Canvas Pontiac. She has been awarded for her photography and is in several private collections. Additionally, she has been published in numerous periodicals and books for her automotive design, as well as her art.
